

DR001

The DR free-weight training product line is designed for commercial clubs and home fitness, offering rich functionality, space-saving features, and high safety.

The DR001 has a 7-degree inclination angle that aligns with biomechanics during squat and press movements; it features double-safety thickened adjustment pins, an external adjustable free squat safety bar, and hooks. The adjustment pins use double-safety thickened dowel pins for safer and more convenient use. Standard commercial tubing (1.97x3.94x0.098in) combined with safety arms ensures training safety.
